TERM ADJUNCT APPOINTMENT
DEPARTMENT OF PATHOLOGY AND MOLECULAR MEDICINE
QUEEN’S UNIVERSITY

Posted: 9 June 2021
The Department of Pathology and Molecular Medicine in the Queen’s University Faculty of Health Sciences is recruiting to a Term Adjunct appointment to coordinate and teach PATH120.

Pathology and Molecular Medicine
PATH120 – Human Disease in the 21st Century (100% responsibility)
This course is intended to be an online course, and with several synchronous class sessions (delivered remotely or in person) depending on Queen’s University and KFL&A public health guidelines at time of offering. Lectures, student presentation and student-led teaching sessions.

PATH120 is a 0.5 (3U) undergraduate course that will be offered in the Fall term, September to December starting 2021. Expected initial enrolment is unknown but a cap of 500 students has been set. The course provides an introduction to human disease and our understanding of key conditions with major global health and societal impact, including cancer, cardiovascular & metabolic, neurological and infectious diseases. Using specific disease examples and clinical cases, the basic concepts of disease mechanisms and current management will be explored.

Qualifications for the Appointment: PhD in a relevant field with at least two years of post-doctoral experience relevant to the field of instruction. Experience in undergraduate, and in particular online course delivery is an asset. As this course is being offered in an online format, successful candidates will also require regular access to high speed internet and a computer that meets current specifications. Preference will be given to applicants with referees who can attest to the applicant’s educational expertise.

The University invites applications from all qualified individuals. Queen’s is strongly committed to employment equity, diversity, and inclusion in the workplace, and encourages applications from Black, racialized/visible minority and Indigenous/Aboriginal people, women, persons with disabilities, and 2S-LGBTQ+ persons. All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, in accordance with Canadian immigration requirements, Canadian citizens and permanent residents of Canada will be given priority.

To comply with Federal laws, the University is obliged to gather statistical information about how many applicants for each job vacancy are Canadian citizens / permanent residents of Canada. Applicants need not identify their country of origin or citizenship; however, all applications must include one of the following statements: “I am a Canadian citizen / permanent resident of Canada”; OR, “I am not a Canadian citizen / permanent resident of Canada”. Applications that do not include this information will be deemed incomplete.

Academic staff at Queen’s University are governed by a Collective Agreement between the Queen’s University Faculty Association (QUFA) and the University, which is posted at http://qufa.ca/.
The University will provide support in its recruitment processes to applicants with disabilities, including accommodation that takes into account an applicant’s accessibility needs. If you require accommodation during the interview process, please contact Barb Latimer at bal@queensu.ca.

This Term Adjunct appointment is subject to funding and/or enrolment criteria. The appointment begins 1 September 2021 and will end 31 December 2021.

Deadline for receipt of applications is Wednesday, 23 June 2021 by 4:00 pm. The application shall include a complete and current curriculum vitae (CV), any other materials the applicant wishes to submit (such as a teaching dossier, teaching philosophy, teaching assessments), and the names of two referees who may be contacted.

Applications should be submitted to (electronic format preferred):

Dr. Alexander Boag, Head
Department of Pathology and Molecular Medicine
c/o Barb Latimer – bal@queensu.ca
Richardson Laboratory, Room 202
Queen’s University